He was a really good GSI who always explained everything very clearly, his class was very helpful with understanding the lecture content.
Nathan Sundy was very helpful and always willing to have zoom office hours with me outside of his posted times
Our instructor really went above and beyond in his explanations, which helped me understand the material better.
Nathan was an incredible GSI. He was so kind and willing to explain the material to students when they had any questions. He was very engaging and made the discussion section something I looked forward to attending every week. My knowledge of the course totally deepened from Nathan's teaching.
I really enjoyed taking this course. Nathan really helped to increase my understanding of economics!

Nathans discussion session complemented the material taught in class, broke it down, and made it easier to understand. When things got very confusing I could always count of discussio making it clearer. Nathan was also accommodating, willing to meet for office hours outside of class time, and willing to help out when students were confused.
Nathan is one of the best GSIs I've had! Extremely helpful and explained the material in a very digestible way which made this difficult course a little easier. Lucky to have been in his section this semester!
I did not really go to discussion section, I had a time conflict. Nathan Sunday is a really good person and good at helping the students.
Nathan was a great GSI – always made himself available and explained things in very simple terms. He was so patient even when the same questions were asked countless times, and I really enjoyed his instruction o fthis course. He was also extremely positive and always tried to uplift students through encouragement. One note for improvement is to potentially go through the most commonly–missed exam questions the discussion section after exams, or related concepts that seemed to pose the most difficulty, just to review them (especially due to the cumulative nature of this course). Also a final exam review session would've been nice, especially one coordinated by all the GSIs.

Thanks!
Great GSI, very clear and descriptive
The quality of instruction was very high for this discussion. I think Mr. Sunday explained concepts thoroughly and in a relevant manner. I have gone to office hours a few times as well, and he is very helpful there too.
Mr. Sunday was very good at explaining the complicated material from lectures, and I very much enjoyed his sections. Best economics discussion I've had since starting at university.

Very good GSI, had very good handouts with practice problems and spent a lot of time explaining concepts that professor skipped over in lecture.

I felt like I understood the material well but consistently scored lower than I thought on important assignments and was never sure why.
I felt that Nathan Sunday did a near perfect job as a GSI for this course. I felt that he fulfilled all proper explanations and reviewed material during discussion, and was extremely helpful during office hours. Nathan was also willing to meet with me on an individually scheduled time and greatly expanded my understanding of the material in a single meeting. I felt that Nathan Sunday also gave very clear expectations that helped students succeed in preparing for exams.
Both the professor and GSI were extremely helpful in both offline and online (piazza) settings and were able to provide students with clear accurate information about course material while keeping us up to speed with frequent announcements and updates.

Was a really good supplemental to the course to better understand the practical aspects of the topics discussed in lecture
The quality of instruction was very good, helpful, and always well prepared.
Sometimes I felt information was went over just to get it over with. Was not always fully explained.
